

Decision Frameworks

Strategic Tools for Field Sales Excellence

ACCOUNT PRIORITIZATION MATRIX

Use this framework to allocate your time across your territory:

| Priority       | Characteristics              | Time Allocation | Stage Focus    |
|----------------|------------------------------|-----------------|----------------|
| A - Strategic  | High potential, receptive    | 50% of time     | All stages     |
| B - Developing | Good potential, building     | 30% of time     | Stage 1-2      |
| C - Maintain   | Lower potential or resistant | 20% of time     | Periodic touch |

OBJECTION RESPONSE FRAMEWORK

Use the ACE method for handling any objection:

- 1 Acknowledge
Show you heard and respect their concern: "I understand..."
- 2 Clarify
Ask a question to understand the root cause: "Help me understand..."
- 3 Educate
Provide information that addresses the concern: "What we've found is..."

STAGE ADVANCEMENT CRITERIA

Only advance to the next stage when you can confirm:

Discovery to Connecting

- ☐ You understand their organizational needs and processes
- ☐ You have identified key stakeholders and decision-makers
- ☐ You have permission to explore individual needs

Connecting to Guiding

- ☐ You understand the personal motivations of your contact

- ☐ You have built sufficient rapport and trust
- ☐ They have expressed interest in potential solutions

Guiding to Commitment

- ☐ They agree your solution addresses their needs
- ☐ All major objections have been addressed
- ☐ Decision-makers are aligned and ready

WEEKLY PLANNING FRAMEWORK

Structure your week for maximum effectiveness:

- Monday: Planning and research for the week ahead
- Tuesday-Thursday: High-value face-to-face meetings
- Friday: Follow-up, documentation, and next week prep

STRATEGIC DISCIPLINE

Review these frameworks weekly. The difference between good and great salespeople is consistent application of proven processes, not occasional brilliance.
